

Kitten season is upon us

Kitten Care Steps

To Help You And Any Kittens You May Find

Step 1

If you find any kittens do not immediately pick them up and take them. Often mother cats will leave their kittens to go hunt and get food. Wait to see if their mom comes back in a few hours.

Step 2

Determine approximately how old the kittens are. Kittens who were born recently have blue eyes. If their eyes are another color they are older than three weeks.

Step 3

If we service your city, and you need assistance with orphaned kittens bring them to our shelter. We are always in need of fosters so you can also always sign up to be one! If the kittens are young and need to be bottle fed, we have Bottle Baby Kits and will provide you with replacement milk and food while the are need of it.

Debating about Fostering?

Fostering is a lot of work but it is even more rewarding! Cute little kittens will grow before your eyes and you will have helped them on their journey to their furever home. Kittens need to be fed every three hours, need help to relieve themselves after they eat, and help to regulate their body temperatures. As they get older they can eat on their own and will develop personalities that you can see easily.

All of the pictures you see here are from current Kitten Fosters who are having an amazing time with their kittens!

If you have any questions please contact foster@occr.ocgov.com.

OC Animal Care

ocpetinfo.com • (714)935-6848
f t i s y /OCAnimalCare